

Senators Ask Action to Meet Cuban Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Democrat and a Republican appealed in the Senate today for concerted action by the Organization of American States to meet the threat of a Communist military beachhead in Cuba.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk reportedly has suggested a hemisphere foreign ministers conference later this month to discuss the problem posed by Communist bloc aid to Cuba. Possible new sanctions against the regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro probably would be discussed at such a meeting.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said that because of the grave emergency building up in Cuba the Western Hemisphere should have a common policy for meeting the Red menace.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., chairman of the Senate Latin-American Affairs subcommittee, told Javits he is confident the necessary three-fourths OAS vote could be obtained for common action.

If a three-fourths vote can not be had, Morse added, "the United States will still have the responsibility to take what course of action the facts show may be necessary to protect the security of the American people from the threat of a Russian Communist beachhead almost on our very own shores."

Sen. John G. Tower, D-Tex., called for U.S. recognition of a Cuban government in exile.

"The time now is for action in Cuba," Tower declared. "Let's recognize a government in exile, located in a friendly Latin-American country, and give them the tools to do the job to overthrow communism and Castro in Cuba."

Rusk called diplomats of the American republics to his office Wednesday for a detailed analysis of President Kennedy's announcement that the Soviet Union is sending large shipments of defensive military equipment to Cuba. Diplomatic circles said Rusk asked the ministers to see how their governments would feel about a foreign ministers conference to discuss the weapons buildup.

Cuba formally protested to the United States that U.S. planes have been flying over Cuban territory.

Czech Ambassador Miloslav Ruzek said the protest note he delivered Wednesday to Edwin M. Martin, assistant secretary of state in charge of Latin-American affairs, complained of "about 20 air violations in July."

The Czech ambassador handles Cuban affairs in Washington in the absence of diplomatic relations between the United States and Cuba.

Former Resident Critically Burned

Watershed Plan Program Discussed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Executive Committee of the Arkansas Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts discussed with Gov. Orval E. Faubus Wednesday the possibility of getting the state appropriation for watershed planning doubled next year.

The committee said the state could use twice the present $50,000 a year appropriation in matching federal funds for watershed work.

For their own purposes, the committee said, the 76 soil and water conservation districts are willing to settle for the same amount they are now getting — $2,000 each a year.

Faubus told the committee he hoped he could help, but he did not commit himself.

Sun Gravity Grabs Marine 2 as Planned

By RALPH DIGHTON

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The sun's gravitational pull has captured the Venus-bound spacecraft Mariner 2.

But there's no cause for alarm — scientists planned it that way.

At a point 1.6 million miles out in space Wednesday solar gravity became strong enough to overcome the earth's weakening pull on the 447-pound spacecraft.

For the rest of its uncalculated lifetime, Mariner 2 will be a tiny satellite of the sun.

Scientific interest in it will cease next Dec. 14 when the 12-foot-tall vehicle streaks past Venus at a distance of 9,000 miles.

Its scientific instruments, designed to help determine whether life could exist on the cloudy planet, then will be turned off and Mariner 2 will become another hunk of space junk orbiting the sun.

Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, where Mariner 2 was built, calculated both the dwindling earth gravity and the increasing solar gravity in figuring its trajectory through space.

Although traveling away from earth at about 6,000 miles an hour, the spacecraft is whizzing along an orbit around the sun at ten times that speed.

In the coming weeks the pull of the sun will grow stronger and Mariner 2's speed will increase. By the time it reaches the vicinity of Venus, the spacecraft will be going more than 90,000 miles an hour along its orbit around the sun.

In a sense, Mariner 2 now is falling toward the sun but it will not plunge into the sun. Its speed will keep it moving in a giant egg-shaped orbit around the sun for years.

The curving trajectory will take Mariner 2, launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Aug. 25, past the sunny side of Venus about noon Eastern Standard Time next Dec. 14—a 180-million-mile journey in less than four months.

As it draws near the planet, radio signals from earth will switch on electronic devices to measure Venus' temperature and the makeup of its atmosphere. Scientists now believe the planet may be too hot—600 degrees Fahrenheit on the surface—to support life, and that there is little if any oxygen in its atmosphere.

After 30 minutes the instruments will be turned off and Mariner 2's scientific life will be officially ended.

Highway Projects Are Programmed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Highway Commission programmed widening and reconstruction of three miles of Hot Springs' Grand Avenue Wednesday at an estimated cost of $240,000.

The project will run east from Third Street on U.S. Highway 70. Other jobs scheduled for contract in the near future, by county, include:

Arkansas: Resurfacing four miles of state Highway 11 from Stuttgart to the Prairie County line, $20,000.

Mississippi: Resurfacing 3.13 miles and graveling another 4.87 miles of state Highway 158 between Interstate 55 and state highway 77, $20,000.

Sebastian: Two bridges on state Highway 96 at Mansfield, $21,000.

Yell: Resurfacing state Highways 22, 7 and 153 in Dardanelle, $9,800.

Miller: Replacing bridge on McKinney Bayou, U.S. Highway 82, $95,000.

Crittenden: Resurfacing U.S. Highways 70 and 79 through West Memphis, including construction of asphalt shoulders and storm sewers, $95,000.

Local Bananas, Melons and Girls

NO FOOLING, IT'S THE REAL THING — bananas, watermelons, and girls, all local products. This tropical scene is right here in Hope, Ark. — an area famous for its beautiful girls and giant watermelons. The banana tree is located at Dick Erwin's fruit market on Highway 67, east and if you look real close there's a watermelon vine growing underneath.

The tree was damaged some by a storm last week but you can see the hanging bananas and the bunch held by Miss Jeannie Lowe, seated. Eating the melon is Miss Jennifer Cox. At least two other banana trees bore fruit this year, one planted by Pod Rogers and another by Duffie D. Booth.

Prescott Has Body 51 Years Old

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The University of Arkansas Medical Center said today it will accept for medical research the body of a man which has lain unclaimed in a Morianita, Ark., funeral home for 53 years.

Meanwhile, a Prescott, Ark., funeral home reported that it had been holding a body for 51 years.

But there were no plans to get rid of the man, called Old Mike. The Flowers Funeral Home in Marianna has been trying to get rid of the body of a man called Tommy Moon since the home came under new management.

J. D. Cornish, who owns the Cornish Funeral Home in Prescott, said Old Mike has been standing in a box in the funeral home's warehouse since he was found dead in a park in 1911. Varying stories say Tommy Moon died of malaria and was found dead in a railroad yard.

Both bodies are well-preserved and there was no explanation as to why they never were buried.

The Medical Center said it would pick up Tommy Moon soon. Cornish said Old Mike probably would be with his funeral home as long as it exists.

At a meeting earlier this week at Hempstead Memorial Hospital, the Prescott District Registered Nurses installed new officers.

Mrs. Benjamin Rice was the installing officer. Mrs. George Wright is president.

Miss Fay Lewis of Prescott is vice-president and Mrs. Elmer Murphy is secretary.

Plans were also made for the convention at Little Rock on October 17-19 and for a banquet at the hotel.

Murder Suicide at Berryville

BERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Lester Davis of Berryville were found shot to death in a gravel pit near Berryville today and Coroner Charles Poyner said it was an apparent murder-suicide.

Poyner said the couple, in their early 30s, went to the rural area in separate cars and were seen talking there Wednesday.

When the bodies were found, the cars were parked nearby and a .45 caliber pistol was on the ground near the couple.

Poyner said he did not think an inquest would be held. He said no reason was indicated for the shootings.

The couple had four children.

Farmer Kills Another Near Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — An argument between two farmers over a stopped up culvert led to the shotgun death of John Morgan O'Neal Jr., 33, near Texarkana Wednesday, Miller County Sheriff Rudy Burgess said.

Burgess said he was holding Audie Brock, about 45, a neighbor of O'Neal's in connection with the shooting.

O'Neal's wife suffered a heart attack during the incident at the O'Neal home and was taken to a hospital by an ambulance which went to pick up his body.

Burgess said Brock surrendered himself and admitted firing at O'Neal, but he said he shot in self-defense.

Burgess quoted Brock as saying O'Neal refused to let him clear debris from the culvert. The blockage was causing water to back up in a road, Brock said.

Pictures Show Pilots Asleep at Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO Flight Engineers' International Association delivered to the Federal Aviation Agency today 40 photographs which, the union said, showed airline pilots asleep at their controls, or reading while in flight.

Airline officials challenged the authenticity of the pictures, one of which showed a stewardess alone at the controls of the plane.

Ron Brown, flight union president, said he gave the pictures to the FAA in response to an official demand for them.

A spokesman said the photographs were taken over a two-year period in cockpits of Eastern Air Lines planes in scheduled passenger operations. A union strike against Eastern is continuing.

A spokesman for Eastern said individuals had been trying to peddle the pictures around to papers in New York for the past two months.

He said Eastern had not seen the pictures, but had investigated and found nothing to indicate that they were authentic or that any pilots or stewardesses had neglected either their work or flying rules.

The Eastern spokesman said the airline had concluded that the pictures would have to be posed, and believed that they may have been taken in a simulator—a ground training device.

The union said the films given to FAA showed the cockpit instruments giving altitude and speed at the time. He added that at the FAA's request the dates and numbers of the flights and the names of some of the individuals also were included.

The flight engineers have been in a long running dispute with the Air Line Pilots Association over the makeup of airline crews on jets.

The pilots have contended that flight engineers are unnecessary—that a third pilot could handle engine duties and at the same time provide a backup capability for the captain and copilot.

Defends U. S. Program in Outer Space

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., chairman of the House Space Committee, today struck back at "Monday morning quarterback" whose teeth start chattering after every Russian "spectacular" in space.

Miller, in a speech prepared for House delivery, said these critics have demanded more emphasis on military applications in space in response to the Soviet feat of orbiting two cosmonauts at the same time in separate space ships.

Miller said a heavy effort in military space projects has long been under way. The U.S. military space effort this year will cost about $1.5 billion. Most of this will be spent on such projects as missile-warning and reconnaissance satellites, a communication satellite system and other nonweapon devices.

Miller told the House "our defense officials are not dolts, and I suspect that their decisions are based on information and intelligence which is somewhat superior to that of their lay critics."

Miller said in his speech that the implications of the Soviet space twins' orbit "are no reason for us to put our program in a constant state of flux, with projects starting, stopping and shifting in response to each new Soviet development."

Furthermore, Miller said, "I don't believe we are doing badly." He said the Soviets began work on manned space flight in 1955 and "six years later the Soviets had a man in space. We put a man there in three years from the time we went to work on it. Their spacecraft was larger than ours, but I see nothing in that record to wince at."

New Outbreak of Algiers

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGERS (AP)—Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella and the commander of the rebel guerrillas holding Algiers flew to Orleansville today to stop a new outbreak of organizing between their forces.

Ben Bella and Col. Si Hassan, commander of guerrilla Wilaya No. 4, had toured the front lines—including Orleansville—to end shooting at three points in which 100 men were reported killed or wounded Wednesday.

The new clash forced postponement of a meeting between military leaders of both sides to draw up a formal cease-fire agreement.

The Home Office statement confirmed that the 61-year-old psychiatrist took a drug of the barbiturate group minutes before he was due to board a Pan American jet airliner for New York.

The Home Office said Soblen became ill in the ambulance taking him from Brixton Prison to the airport.

Thus Soblen, who once stabbed himself in a simulated suicide attempt, again delayed attempts to send him back to a U.S. prison to serve a life sentence for passing wartime secrets to the Soviet Union.

According to one account Soblen took barbiturates which he had hidden on him. This occurred while the ambulance taking him to the plane was at the airport gate.

A late hospital bulletin said: "Barbiturates have been found in his blood in a concentration which indicates an overdose."

After Soblen had been at the hospital 7½ hours, another medical bulletin said he was still unconscious and "there is no change in his condition."

The Home Office said Soblen will remain in the hospital for at least 24 hours.

Asked if Soblen's condition was improving, a spokesman said it was too early to form any conclusion on his prospects of recovery.

The Home Office will seek to determine how Soblen—in the light of his past record—was able to get his hands on the drugs he took.

Soblen has some sympathizers in Britain. One of these might have slipped him drugs but the opportunities for doing so would have been limited.

A considerable amount of medicine probably has been prescribed for Soblen since July 1. He may have been able to build up a stock of his own.

Convicted Spy Takes Poison, Is Critical

LONDON (AP)—Dr. Robert A. Soblen poisoned himself today, minutes before he was to be deported to a United States prison aboard a jet airliner, the British Home Office announced.

Soblen was rushed at once to Hillingdon Hospital near London Airport, seriously ill and unconscious.

A Home Office statement confirmed that the 61-year-old psychiatrist took a drug of the barbiturate group minutes before he was due to board a Pan American jet airliner for New York.

Cuban Issue to Boil Over Politically

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Political ferment over the Soviet military build-up in Cuba seemed certain today to boil over into the congressional election campaign.

Republican leaders offered the customary no-politics disclaimers for party criticism of the administration's lack of counteraction against the landing of Communist technicians, submersible missiles, fighter planes, artillery and tanks on the island.

Sen. Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told a news conference Wednesday that nobody in his right mind "would exploit an incipient war"—a development he indicated could come if any evidence turns up that Castro is being armed other than defensively.

But, Dirksen added significantly: "We Republicans are not dragging Cuba into the campaign but the people are. They are deeply disturbed by the proximity of this threat to our security."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana had said earlier he hopes the Republicans won't pull the Cuban situation into the fall campaign.

Showers Have Postponed Harvesting

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Agricultural Extension Service said today showers this week have postponed some harvesting of cotton in Arkansas, but hand-picking in some areas is underway.

The machine harvest will begin in a week or 10 days, the service said.

Cotton is opening fast, but rains are expected to halt premature opening and aid sizing and maturing of young bolls.

In Jefferson County, the rain may have been too late. The report said irrigated cotton in the county has fallen over and could be hurt by boll rot.

In Phillips County hand picking is proceeding at a fast pace and county agents report more picking in August than ever before.

The report said a very good rice crop is practically in the bag. Early varieties are maturing and later ones are heading. A few fields of Belle Patna, new to Arkansas, and Noto have been combined and harvest of early rice

Democratic leader, said in an interview he has no doubt that the explosive Cuban situation will be bandied about in electioneering.

Johnson Gets a Big Naples Welcome

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson brought his goodwill tour to Naples today and won the warmest, wildest welcome of his Italian stay.

Neapolitans by the thousands lined the streets of this colorful southern city that has sent millions of immigrants to America. The crowds cheered, chanted, applauded, waved and shouted.

In a speech at the Naples airport, Johnson hailed the city as "a gateway for Americans coming to Italy and Europe and a gateway for Italians going to America."

"Unlike Rome, which gave Johnson a polite but casual welcome when he arrived Tuesday, this city of 1,250,000 greeted the American vice president like a long-lost son."

Johnson, who last visited Naples as a congressman in June 1945, greeted Naples like a man coming home.

At the U.S. consulate, overlooking the sun-spangled Bay of Naples, Johnson, perspiring in the summer sun, told a group of 250 Italian immigrants preparing to leave for the United States:

"This is one of the most genuine and thrilling experiences of my life. You don't know how happy I am, how humble I feel to come here to Naples."

Scores of Italians, tears in their eyes, pushed and pressed against the vice president, calling out phrases like "I have seven children in America." "God bless your country—my daughter lives there."

At the end of Johnson's brief speech, a young dark-haired beauty came to the platform and tried to kiss him on the cheek.

From the consulate, Johnson drove along the long Naples waterfront and visited a shipyard, where he shook hands and chatted with workers.

The vice president's 15-day overseas mission neared a close. He leaves for the United States Friday.

of the Miss America pageant today. Pamela Gilbert, 21, whose measurements are 36-24-36, placed first in the swim suit event as the pageant got under way Wednesday night.

And Charlotte Ann Carroll, 19, drew a rousing ovation with a singing and dancing impersonation to take top honors in the talent division.

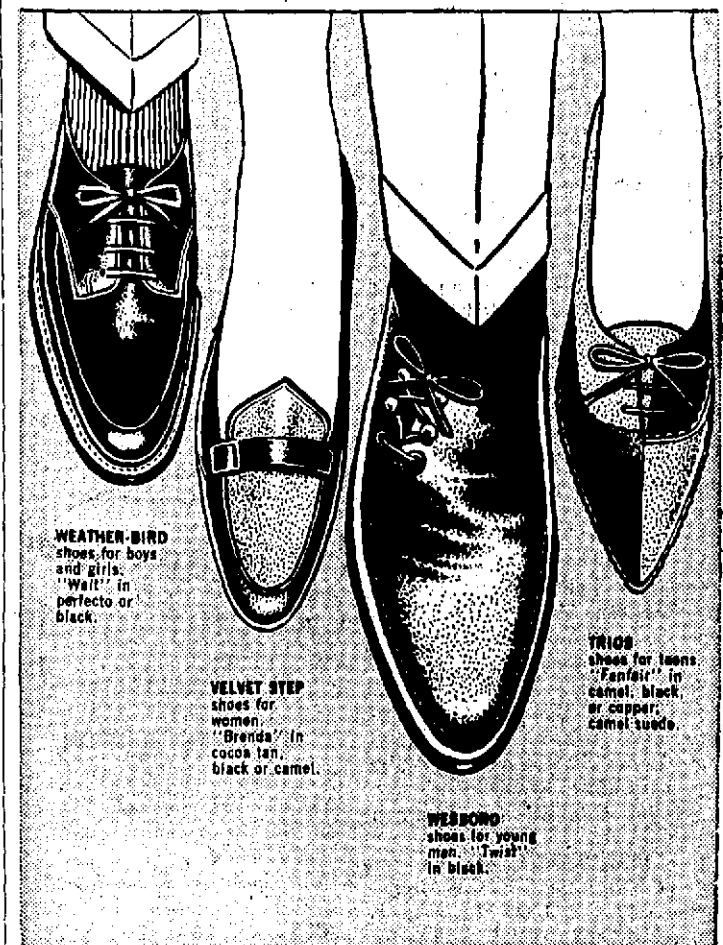

Each placed ahead of 17 other beauties. The remaining 18 contestants appeared in evening gowns. But winners in that category are never announced to re lighten the suspense.

Miss Arkansas, Edye Addington of Texarkana, competed in the talent division Wednesday night. Miss Gilbert will enter her senior year at Southern Illinois University in her home town of Carbondale. She hopes to teach mentally retarded children.

Miss Carroll, of Waltham, Miss., the talent winner was the obvious choice of the audience of 6,633. She won her prize with a song, and dance routine in which she portrayed Olive Oyl, the girl friend of comic strip character Popeye.

Watching were Mary Ann Mobley, the 1959 Miss America, and Linda Le Mead, the 1960 titlist. Each hails from Mississippi and each sang on the program.

Bride-Elect Feted at Shower

Miss Rebecca Ann Ridling, bride-elect of John Allen Sage, was feted with a miscellaneous bridal shower on Saturday night, Sept. 1 at the Spring Hill Methodist Church recreation room by Miss Betty Sue Lee, Miss Mae Collins, and Mrs. Lucy Huckabee.

Wearing a rose colored dress, the honoree was presented an attractive kitchen corgage. A pretty blue umbrella trimmed with white marked the table where the many lovely gifts were displayed.

After games were played and the gifts were opened, dainty sandwiches, white cake squares and pink punch were served to about 30 guests.

Miscellaneous Shower Given

A miscellaneous bridal shower for Miss Rebecca Ann Ridling was given August 25 at Prescott Community Center. The popular bride-elect wore a pale green polished cotton dress and pinned a corsage of white mums at her shoulder.

The many lovely gifts received by Miss Ridling were displayed at the party. These included a gift of crystal from the hostesses. From a table overlaid with a pink linen cloth and decorated with a miniature bride and groom, white mums and tapers, pink punch and cake squares were served.

Hostesses were Mesdames Woodrow Easterling, J. T. Easterling, Harry Keeley, Freeman Ligon, Ernest Bolton Jr., Denzil Calhoun, Robert Peasley, R. F. Yarbrough, Gene Lee, Bob Davis, Tad Carington and Guy Lee. Miss Linda Peachey poured the punch and Mrs. J. T. Easterling had charge of the guest book.

Life as Wife of Captain More Than She Can Take

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Eleven years ago I was the starry-eyed bride of a handsome young Air Force man. He planned, after his tour of duty, to continue the certified public accountant career for which he had prepared himself at college.

I gave up a lucrative modeling job to be a wife and, we hoped, mother. Having put in two years as a general arts student, I considered myself fairly intelligent. Together, I felt we could build toward a bright future. That dream never got off the ground.

My husband is still in the Air Force—now a captain—and I'm a harassed housewife trying to make the best of a pillar-to-post existence with three children and a man who doesn't give a damn about how his locks or where we live so long as he can draw his monthly pay.

My children and I look well-dressed even on the pittance my husband allows me. Every morning I put out matching socks, shirt and tie for my husband. He ends up a mess with colors mixed.

The cheap furniture he bought for our so-called home is another mess. I believe permanent, quality furnishings are important in rearing children. So is privacy.

I help in Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and am teaching Sunday School. Outwardly I'm calm; inside, a whirlpool of resentment. We never laugh or have fun. I'm thinking of taking the children and leaving our travesty of a home. Will you print this and your solution—if any—to my problem. My husband reads your column have been visiting in the home of Mrs. Garatulo.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thornton have returned from Houston where they visited their son, Clarence Jr. who is a patient in the Veterans Hospital there.

every day.—Dejected

Dear Dejected: Your letter is a picture of the defects and ideals in the American way of life today. Naturally, the whole assembly-line set-up is deadly to a sensitive person like yourself. To the unimaginative, living in a barracks amid shoddy surroundings with neighbors breathing down one's neck doesn't matter so long as the government takes care of its own.

I find that abroad, though the people are poor, they are in a sense richer, for there is more beauty in their lives. However, the American way of life is catching up on them with big housing developments mushrooming in the industrial centers across Europe. Such developments are stifling the sense of quality in people, deadening their very taste, stultifying their character.

Shake your husband out of his lethargy. Be a Mrs. Paul Revere. As his wife you have a say in the way you and your family live. Find a home to your taste. Take the children and move. If worst comes to the worst, put the children in a day school and go back to your modeling job. Once you act, constructive forces far more powerful than the negative will rush to your rescue.

Dear Helen: Our aunt, a widow, has been living with us for some time. Ever since the day she moved in, she's been telling us where to get off. Our parents think she's wrong but lack the nerve to tell her so. Help!—Worried Children

Dear Children: Go in a body to your parents. Say you cannot take Auntie's domineering ways any longer and, if they won't speak to her, you will. But be sure you speak with love, not hate, in your hearts. Try to see Auntie's side of the question. She is a lone widow, evidently dependent upon your family for her support.

Only the insecure are dictators. If you all clubbed together in buying some present for her, the situation might ease up. It's surprising what a little love and thoughtfulness will do.

give you practical help and may also find a place for the little 8-year-old brother about whom you are so concerned.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Manners and Young People."

Group Tours 3 Disaster Areas

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State and federal agricultural officials toured Fulton, Izard and Baxter counties Wednesday to survey the condition of counties requesting designation as drought disaster areas.

Don Gillis, staff assistant to the area director's office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and A. C. Mowery of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office, made the tour. Mowery is executive secretary of the Drought Disaster Committee.

The three counties have asked for permission to use land now held in reserve for grazing or hay or for permission to buy livestock feed at lower prices to meet the problems of prolonged drought.

Gillis' report to his office is the first step toward getting consideration by the USDA as a drought disaster area. The tour lasted two days.

Spa Deeds Land for Gorge Road

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Garland County has given 11 acres of land to the federal government for relocation of the Gorge Road, which runs through part of the National Park.

The road was of no use to the county, Judge Henry Murphy said.

The new road will permit expansion of recreational facilities in the gorge, Gordon Bender, assistant park director, said. Bender estimated cost of the project would be about $72,000.

Dick Powell Planning a New Series

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Detectives are dead," said Dick Powell, raising his left hand and ticking items off on his fingers. "Lawyers are dead. Doctors are dead. Cow-boys are dead. So what are you going to do?"

So what Powell and his Four Star production company are doing this season are anthologies, comedies—the broader the better—and reviving that fine, old, all-purpose device, the newspaper dray-ma.

Powell is the head of one of the smartest commercial operations in this lotus-land. But he is, at the moment, quite puzzled about television's current direction and habits of killing off whole areas of entertainment.

"If they (and he means the networks) will just tell us what they want, we'll make 'em," said Powell. "I think that we're turning out some pretty good shows for them. I know that for my own series, we've shaken down the writing supply to some 55 or 60 scripts and there will be more weeding out. But I've got my fingers crossed for the rest—I don't feel that we've got really good spots for any of the other shows—even if the time is right, the competition is rough—so we'll just have to see what happens."

Powell's own show is the anthology series in which he acts as weekly host and stars in about every third show. It proved one of last season's hits, a series of slick, well-acted and thoroughly professional shows.

This year his Four Star company (other partners include Charles Boyer and David Niven) is producing "The Lloyd Bridges Show" an anthology series, "Ensign O'Toole," a roistering comedy show along the lines of "Mr. Roberts," and "Saints and Sinners," the city-room series with a star reporter for a hero.

Costly Perfume Down the Drain

LONDON (AP)—"And this," said the manager of the perfume factory, "is our most expensive item."

"Ooh," coed Joy Black, who as Miss Great Britain was starting out Tuesday on a tour of the nation. "How much is it worth?"

"The stuff in this container," explained manager Leigh Walker, "is valued at 720 pounds" $2,016. He handed it over to the 24-year-old beauty.

She turned to say something and the container slipped from her fingers to the concrete floor. Spilled.

Stunned for a moment, Walker quickly regained his composure and said: "Accidents will happen. It's just one of those things."

When Joy left the factory, the manager handed her a bottle of perfume, just to show there are no hard feelings, he said.

The gift perfume was valued at 2 pounds—$5.60.

Suggests Formula for Labor Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special presidential board has suggested a formula for settling the labor dispute threatening the aerospace industry.

The three-man group, named last month by President Kennedy, submitted its recommendations privately to the four companies and two labor unions involved in a dispute that could erupt into a strike Sept. 21.

The board declined to make public its recommendations but it was indicated that they contained some form of union security.

The unions—the International Association of Machinists and the United Auto Workers, both AFL-CIO—have demanded a union shop or an agency shop.

Any such form of compulsory union membership or fee payment has been resisted by the firms—North American Aviation, Lockheed Aircraft, General Dynamics and Ryan Aeronautical.

Ambassador Goes to Hospital

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Llewellyn E. Thompson, 58, former U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, suffered a kidney stone attack here Tuesday and was taken to the Air Force Academy Hospital.

Doctors said he was resting comfortably and would remain under observation.

Thompson was recalled from Moscow recently for a new State Department assignment, still undisclosed.

The seizure came while Thompson was golfing.

Thompson has been vacationing in the Colorado Springs area with his wife and three daughters for the past three weeks.

Campaigns Didn't Cost Candidates

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus has reported his fifth term campaign expenses as $1,775.

That's what he spent out of his own pocket, according to a report filed with the secretary of state.

Three of his five opponents said they spent more. David A. Cox said he spent $8,743, Vernon H. Whitten $8,517 and Rep. Dale Alford $4,435.

The reports are required by law. They do not, however, include money a candidate's supporters may have spent in his behalf. Total expenses of some candidates in major campaigns reportedly have run above $200,000.

Other expense reports, by office, in the recent Democratic primary, included:

Secretary of state: Milton Willis $1,265; Kelly Bryant $2,061.

Treasurer: Nancy Hall $2,604.

Attorney general: Bruce Bennett $2,200; Thorp Thomas $3,272; Sam H. Boyce $3,000; Dave Will $1,737.

Land Commissioner: Paul Hapshaw $3,965.

Auditor: Jimmie Jones $759; Sept. 6, 13, 1962

Employment in U. S. Near 70 Million

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—People snorted when Henry Wallace predicted two decades ago that U.S. employment would hit 60 million jobs. It did, and now is on the verge of crossing 70 million.

The Labor Department reported Wednesday that instead of declining by more than 250,000 in August as expected, employment climbed by nearly 200,000 to 69,762,000.

This is the greatest number ever employed in history and Labor Department officials express confidence today that the 70-million mark will be reached before the year is over.

It was back in 1943 in the midst of World War II that Henry Wallace, a controversial figure in the Roosevelt New Deal era, predicted that employment, then 54.5 million, would jump to 60 million in a decade.

Many laughed at the idea because the nation was bending every effort and using all available manpower to achieve maximum production to win the war.

"They felt, too, there would be a big job decline when the war ended."

But Wallace's prediction came true in 1950, three years early, as production continued high to meet postwar civilian demand. By 1958 there were 65 million employed.

The August job report put out by the Labor Department contained a set of mixed trends. Besides the unexpected employment gain, it showed a far less than anticipated improvement in unemployment and a large increase in the over-all labor force.

Seymour Wolfbein, deputy assistant secretary of labor, told a news conference that basically the job picture is continuing as it has all year—employment is showing encouraging and steady growth but unemployment is failing to improve accordingly.

To the experts, this means that a great many workers displaced from jobs by machines are going to have to be retrained in new skills if they are to come off the idle rolls. They are hopeful that the new government retraining program will help.

The August report showed that unemployment declined by 86,000, instead of the seasonally expected 450,000, to 3,932,000. The civilian labor force increased by more than 100,000 to nearly 74 million.

Fish Killed by Cotton Poison

HELENA, Ark. (AP)—The big fish kill on the Mississippi River may have been due to pollution of the water by the powerful insecticides used in spraying cotton. It was reported Wednesday.

T. H. Holder, assistant director of the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission, said the presence of dead fish in streams at this time of the year is a common occurrence and has been traced to insecticides.

Towboat captains have reported thousands of dead fish flailing in the Mississippi from about 20 miles south of Memphis on down stream past Greenville, Miss.

Detroit, Out of Race, But May Play Key Part

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If there is one club that holds the key to the American League pennant scramble, how about the Detroit Tigers for a candidate?

The Tigers are all but out of the picture now, but they're hot, and they have a flock of games to play with the three teams at the top as they head for the wire—two with the New York Yankees, six with the Minnesota Twins and five with the Los Angeles Angels.

Finishing up their season mastery over Baltimore Wednesday night, the Tigers took a doubleheader from the Orioles, 5-2 and 6-0, with a flurry of home runs, supporting the strong pitching of Jim Bunning and Hank Aguirre.

The Angels-Yankees were rained out at New York and the Twins failed in a shot to pick up ground on their idle rivals. Minnesota managed no more than a split in two games with Washington's insipid Senators, winning the opener 9-7 on Vic Power's two-run double in the 11th inning and then losing the second game 3-0 as Washington left-hander Claude Osteen fired a three-hitter.

Also in the AL, Chicago clipped Cleveland 2-1 and Boston racked up Kansas City 12-4.

In the National League, San Francisco moved to 2½ games back of the first-place Dodgers with a 3-0 victory over Los Angeles. Cincinnati beat Chicago two times, 7-5 in 16 innings and 10-3; Milwaukee edged St. Louis 1-0; and Houston scored over Pittsburgh, 5-3. Philadelphia and New York were not scheduled.

Bill Bruton, Vic Werz, Al Kaline, Steve Boros and Rocky Colavito socked homers in the Tiger sweep over Baltimore, giving Detroit a club record of 184 for the season. Bunning pitched an eight-hitter and Aguirre a five-hitter. Robin Roberts and Jack Fisher were the losers.

While Osteen limited the Twins to three singles, the Senators hit Jack Kralick for one run in the fourth inning then got four straight singles and two runs in the eighth off Frank Sullivan, the first game winner.

Washington was behind 5-0 at one stage but sent the opener into overtime with four runs in the ninth, but Minnesota pulled it out in the 11th. Harmon Killebrew hit his 37th homer, Earl Bailey also connected for the Twins, and John Kennedy pinch homered for Washington in his first big league at bat.

Ray Herbert threw a five-hitter for the White Sox against Cleveland. The Red Sox rapped out 16 hits against Kansas City pitching, nine of them in a seven-run third inning. Right-hander Earl Wilson gave up 11 hits to the A's.

Democrats Close Ranks for Election

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Democratic Party, with rumblings of a building Republican Party in the background, closed ranks Wednesday for a spirited campaign leading to the November general election.

"It looks like we are going to face the most vigorous opposition from the Republicans in many years and we had better do something about it," Party Chairman Tom Harper told a meeting of the state Central Committee.

The committee responded by voting to set up a campaign headquarters and statewide campaign organizations to help Democratic nominees who are opposed by GOP candidates.

These are Gov. Orval E. Faubus, Sen. J. William Fulbright and Reps. J. W. Trimble and Oren Harris at the state level. The Republican opponents are Willis Ricketts of Fayetteville for governor, Dr. Kenneth Jones of Little Rock for the Senate, Cy Carney Jr., of Fayetteville against Trimble and Warren Liebling of Pine Bluff against Harris.

The committee went through the formality of certifying Democratic nominees. It also approved officers for the Democratic State Convention, scheduled next Wednesday.

Trimble was named as permanent convention chairman and Harris was designated as keynote speaker. Mayor Ben Butler of Osceola will serve as convention secretary and Pulaski County Judge Arch Campbell will make the welcoming address.

Besides the state races, Republicans are seeking a number of district and county offices, particularly in northwest Arkansas, a longtime Republican stronghold.

Golf's Top Triple Trio at Akron

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Golfdom's top-titled trio moved into town today for two practice rounds preceding the Saturday-Sunday $75,000 "world series" over Firestone Country Club's troublesome terrain.

Arnold Palmer, big-money winner and holder of the British Open and Masters crowns, goes against PGA champion Gary Player and National Open king Jack Nicklaus in the 36-hole medal play chase.

The winner gets $50,000, the second-placer $15,000 and the tail-ender $10,000. The payoff could jumble the money-won standings. Palmer leads the pack at present with $80,198, but must take the top cash to stay ahead. Player is fifth with $44,338, Nicklaus third with $33,518.

One thing is certain, if par for the 36 holes takes the big prize over the 7,165 yard par 70 yarder the victor will get $357 for each shot he makes, and $25,000 per day.

Giants Again Win, Climb on Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

A one-day rest a week and a half ago may have been just the tonic Willie Mays needed for a quick pick-me-up in that National League tug-of-war between his pursuing San Francisco Giants and Manager Walt Alston's front-running Los Angeles Dodgers.

Triggering a San Francisco victory for the seventh time in the last 10 games since his layoff, Mays collected two doubles and a single, driving in the first two runs in a 3-0 triumph over the Dodgers Wednesday night that moved the Giants back to within 2½ games of the top.

"Man, I'm tired," Willie wailed just before his rest. "My bat's dragging at the plate. It feels like it weighs a ton. One day is all I need and I'd be a new man."

Mengar Alvin Dark egged.

Now Willie's wallopin' again.

He won Monday's opener of the key four-game series between the leaders and Wednesday night provided the only runs the Giants needed to win it behind the combined six-hit pitching of Juan Marichal and Bob Bolin, who came on when Marichal was injured in the sixth inning.

Marichal was hurt in a collision at first base involving himself, the Giants' Orlando Cepeda and the Dodgers' Willie Davis. The pitcher was carried off the field, but is not expected to miss a turn. X-rays disclosed no break, merely a twisted right instep.

While the Giants closed the gap, Cincinnati's defending champions climbed to within five games of the Dodgers by beating the Chicago Cubs in both ends of a doubleheader, 7-5 in 10 innings and 10-3.

Milwaukee's Tony Cloninger shut out St. Louis 1-0 on five hits and Houston defeated Pittsburgh 5-3. New York and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

In the American League, second-place Minnesota split a twinbill with Washington, winning 9-7 in 11 innings before dropping a 3-0 decision. Detroit beat Baltimore twice, 5-2 and 6-0, the Chicago White Sox edged Cleveland 2-1 and Boston walloped Kansas City 12-4. The game between first-place New York and third-place Los Angeles was rained out.

The Reds won the opener in the 10th when Gordie Coleman hit his 27th homer, with a man aboard, off Dave Gerard (2-3). That gave the victory to Johnny Klippstein (6-3). In the nightcap, the Reds blasted Paul Toth (1-1) and three successors for 13 hits. Joe Nuxhall (5-0) won it with relief help from Dave Sisler. Rookie second baseman Ken Hubbs bettered Bobby Doerr's record of 414 consecutive errorless chances. Hubbs extended his string to 418 in 78 games before committing an error in the second game.

Cloninger (6-3) got the victory for the Braves when Lee Maye singled with two out in the second inning, scoring on a single by Amado Samuel off Cardinal starter Ray Washburn (11-7). Two former Pirates, Jim Pendleton and pitcher Jim Umbricht (1-0) each singled in a Colt run in the seventh inning, snapping a 3-3 tie and tagging Vern Law (10-7) with the defeat.

Senators, hurled three-hit shutout that beat Minnesota 3-0 in second game of twin-nighter, leaving second-place Twins 2½ games behind American League leading New York. Minnesota won opener 9-7 in 11 innings.

Disaster Areas Designated

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State and federal agricultural officials returned Wednesday from a two-day tour of three north Arkansas counties which are seeking designation as drought disaster areas.

The counties—Fulton, Izard and Baxter—want permission to use soil bank reserve land for cattle grazing or to buy livestock feed at discount prices because of prolonged drought.

A report on findings of the tour is the first step toward getting consideration by the Agriculture Department as a disaster area.

Injuries, All Minor, Plague the Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The injury bug flitted over the Arkansas Razorback practice field Wednesday and the key man in Coach Frank Broyles' 1962 plans — quarterback Billy Moore — was one of its three victims.

Fullback Danny Brabham, working hard to make a conversion from guard, and end Hoover Evans also pulled up lame.

Trainer Bill Ferrell said none of the hurts were serious and the three should be ready for the Arkansas opener against Oklahoma State Sept. 22.

More sustained a bruise and pulled muscle above the upper right rib cage. Ferrell said he would miss four of five days of practice.

Brabham has a badly bruised left thigh and Evans aggravated an old neck injury.

Moore said he was hurt when he was cutting one direction and someone grabbed his face mask, pulling him in another direction just as someone else hit him.

Broyles said Wednesday his study of films taken of Tuesday afternoon's scrimmage left him disappointed.

The movies showed the first team could move the ball against the fourth and fifth units but that it bogged down against the second and third teams, he said.

Besides the injuries, first of the fall practice session, and the poor showing on the films, Broyles began to express concern about the weather.

It has been cool in Fayetteville while other Southwest Conference camps have had trouble with heat exhaustion.

But Broyles said the extended cool spell was no blessing. Without a hot sun, he said, he couldn't tell whether the players were really getting in shape.

The Porkers are working out twice daily—at 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Will Drop Fight for Policeman

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Attorney Sam Anderson said Wednesday he will drop the fight to get Patrolman Uvie Smith reinstated by the Hot Springs Police Department because the Civil Service Commission has prejudged the case.

Police Chief Milford Sanders fired Smith Aug. 15 for what Sanders said was conduct unbecoming an officer. Neither Sanders nor the commission has said what the charges against Smith were, except that they were related to an incident which occurred May 5.

A hearing on Smith's petition for reinstatement was scheduled Friday night. Anderson objected because it was to be closed to the public.

Anderson made his charges of prejudgment in a letter to Civil Service Commission Chairman A. G. Crawford. He said "the commission, police chief and other politicians" did not want Smith on the force.

Anderson released copies of the letter to news media.

Faubus Is Issue in Georgia Race

ATLANTA (AP)—A letter from Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus praising former Georgia Gov. Marvin Griffin has become a heated issue in an already hot governor's race in Georgia.

Supporters of Griffin, who is seeking to return to the governor's chair after a four-year absence, cheered wildly when the Faubus letter was read at rallies at Rome and Cedartown.

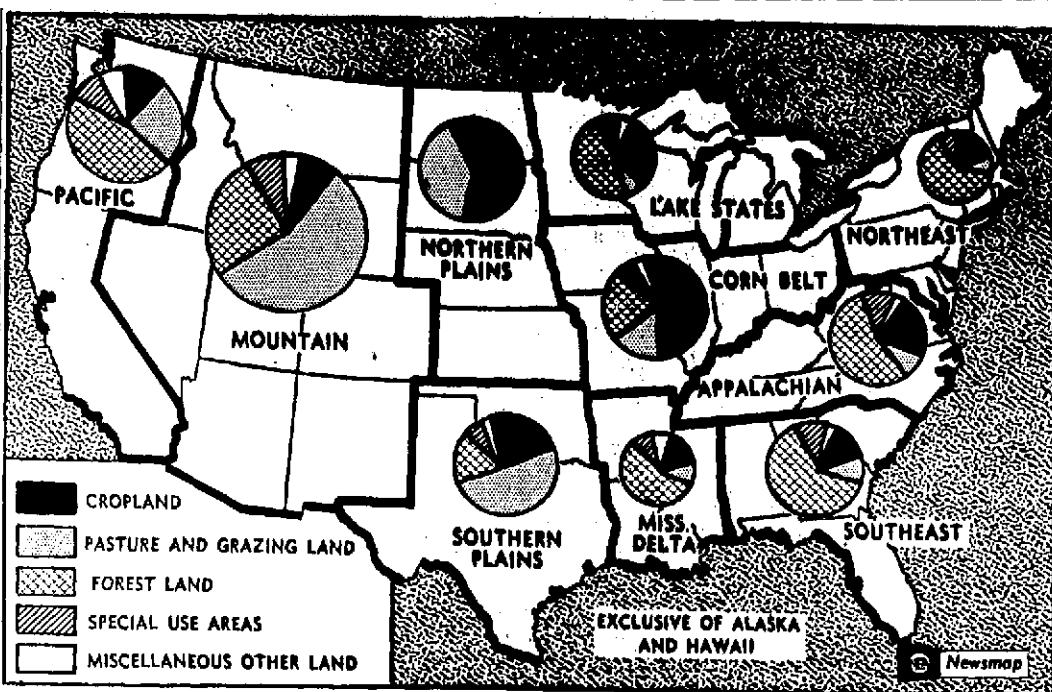

State Sen. Carl E. Sanders, regarded as the strongest of four other candidates in the race, criticized the letter and said it was an indication Griffin is losing ground and calling on "outsiders" to come to his rescue.

Griffin said the letter is not an endorsement but he feels Faubus would have endorsed him if he had asked for an endorsement.

Faubus said the letter was written in reply to an invitation from Griffin's campaign headquarters to appear at a Griffin rally in Rome.

Faubus declined the invitation, pleading other commitments, but he said it would have been a pleasure to attend and pay tribute to Griffin.

"I know that Marvin Griffin has the courage, fortitude and ability to defend the rights of the people," Faubus wrote, explaining USES OF THE LAND—Varied climate and geography give each section of the United States a different role in the nation's economy. Newmap above, based on information from the Department of Agriculture, shows the major uses of land as compared with the total land area in regions. In the East, South, Lake states and Northwest, forestland predominates. In the Midwest and Northern Plains, it is cropland, and in the Southern Plains and Mountain states, pastures and grazing land. Total number of acres of land in the 50 states is 2,271 billion. Of this 20 per cent is cultivated cropland, 28 per cent grassland pasture and range and 34 per cent forest. The rest is devoted to other uses.

Some Facts of Life in Arkansas

One of the last traces of 60 years of railroad in the Harrison area went up in flames last week.

Harrison once was the hub of operations of the old A&O line that ran 299 miles from Seligman, Mo. to Helena.

At one time it employed 500 persons. On Aug. 14 the last piece of track was taken up. The remaining traces of the line were sold for scrap.

One of the last of these items—an old caboose—was burned to strip it of wood.

The railroad was abandoned in April, 1949, after a strike halted all operations in September, 1946. Records of the firm will go to Boone, Iowa, where the A&O owners have two other short line railroads.

There's never a dull moment in one Batesville neighborhood. Some time back homeowners found the sub-soil in their front yards soaked with leaking natural gas. So they punched holes in the ground and made their own free gas lamps until the leak was fixed.

Another resident found grümlins in the electric working of his house. Every time a burner in the electric stove was turned on the window fan in another room started whirling.

Another Batesville resident is having fun with a "find." He's getting free cups of coffee on bets that his new "gizmo" can't be identified. And most people miss.

It's a solid walnut shuttle from a hand loom—found when the new owner tore down an old log house some time ago.

In its Friday editions, the Jonesboro Sun ran a picture of State Trooper Buren Jackson tying a white flag to the aerial of his patrol car as a safety reminder to motorists of dangerous driving conditions during the Labor Day weekend.

Less than four hours after the newspaper hit the streets, it was Jackson's duty to investigate the first and worst crash of the holiday period, a head-on collision which killed six persons and injured two others near Weiner.

It had to happen. It happened at Conway. Joe Reid, counted on as a starting guard on the Conway High football team twisted a knee while dancing the Twist. Reid will miss Conway's opener against Forrest City Friday night and possibly several other games.

Twist fans were warned to stay away from Coach Rex Lovell for the next few days.

Dollarway Files Answer to Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Dollarway School District made a brief answer in U.S. District Court today to the complaint in which a Negro girl said her civil rights were violated when she was assigned to all-Negro Townsend Park School near Pine Bluff.

The board denied it violated her rights and asked the court to approve its assignment procedure for the present school year.

Sarah Howard, 14, daughter of a Negro attorney, was allowed to intervene in the Dollarway integration lawsuit.

bus' critics have contended that Griffin helped convince Faubus he should use National Guard troops to thwart integration.

Faubus wrote that Griffin had never hesitated to speak out and be counted on important issues.

Georgia Gov. Ernest Vandiver is prohibited from seeking reelection. Georgia governors are elected for four years and cannot succeed themselves.

Things Not Always What They Appear

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Things are not always what they appear to be in this land that specializes in make-believe.

For instance, if you stroll into a studio commissary at the luncheon hour, you are likely to find the entire cast of a show huddled together at a table listening intently to one of their number talk—with gestures.

You walk closer, hoping to eavesdrop on an actor's monologue on the finer points in bringing a character to life.

But no, what the man is saying, with gestures, goes something like this: "My business manager has figured out the sweetest little capital gains deal you can imagine—Pasadena office buildings. He's putting every single cent of mine he can find in them. I figure that if I can stay in this income bracket for four more years, I can relax and go fishing."

At another table are two of your favorite Western stars, in full regalia, ignoring their cottage cheese and pineapple salads in favor of listening to a small man in a business suit.

"Motels—say, 65 units to start—on this San Fernando Valley land," the little man is saying. "You can pick up the acreage cheap—it's just farmland now, but with the freeway extending, it's gotta shoot up in value, and these motel units are fine for tax depreciation. If you guys get in now—we've got an option on the land—in four years you can just relax and go fishing."

A lovely woman star is holding court at her corner table. "Cattle, that's the best deal, and I've gone through this business of real estate," she whispers. "My manager is buying me into these herds and with a depreciation going on them over a five-year period, there's a great tax break and meanwhile there's nothing to worry about. After all, people have to eat."

Russia Agrees to More Test Ban Talks

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union agreed today to a United States proposal for direct negotiations between the Big Three nuclear powers on a nuclear test ban during the disarmament conference recess starting Saturday.

U.S. Chief Delegate Arthur H. Dean proposed Friday that the conference's nuclear subcommittee, composed of the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain, meet during the Sept. 8-Nov. 12 recess in a continued effort to reach agreement.

Originally, no meetings of the subcommittee were planned for this period.

Britain appealed to the Soviet Union again to come to an agreement with the two Western powers on a nuclear weapons test ban.

British Minister of State Joseph B. Godber told the 17-nation disarmament conference that both the British and U.S. governments continue to be flexible on the issue.

He said the Western governments are willing to negotiate on the basis of their two alternative test ban proposals "or any other reasonable proposal which the Soviet Union may bring forward."

"We desperately want a real agreement," Godber said and added, "Let the Soviet delegate negotiate with us in such a way as to bring about an accord."

Shah of Iran Visits Scenes of Quake

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

BOUEIN, Iran (AP)—Clouds of dust mixed with the smell of death Wednesday as the Shah of Iran visited the ruins of mud-brick villages shattered by earthquakes he said killed at least 10,000 persons.

Short, jolting rumbles almost daily, since the savage shock Saturday night devastated vast areas, kept survivors in terror as they scrounged for food and water and dug in the debris to recover bodies and buried the dead.

Moderately strong earth tremors Wednesday rocked two regions across the frontier—in Soviet Armenia and Turkey. Some damage was reported in the Turkish town of Igdir but there were no reports of casualties.

The Shah moved by plane and helicopter through the 23,000 square-mile triangular disaster area beginning 110 miles west of Tehran.

Stark reports from officials brought out the immensity of the disaster.

Dr. Rouhollah Changizi, attached to the Red Lion and Sun—Iran's Red Cross—said there is still danger of infectious diseases in Bouein and in other villages.

A member of Parliament for the area, Reza Djafari, estimated 9-

000 sheep and cows were killed in the quake and said the carcasses added to the growing threat of epidemics.

Bouein, a thriving center of wheat and vegetable farms, stood as a ghost town. The only thing left standing is a "No Hunting" sign.

The Iran Red Cross reported more than 3,000 victims have been buried hastily in villages, without traditional Moslem rites.

Some remote villages still have not been reached by rescue teams. A U.S. spotter plane made aerial photos of the quake area to pinpoint the worst hit.

U.S. Air Force transports for the second day landed at intervals at Tehran with tents, blankets, a mobile hospital and two helicopters.

Six thousand pounds of donated medical supplies from the United States came on a Pan American World Airways plane without cost. The U.S. Air Force is flying about 30 Iranian doctors and medical students from Germany back to Iran.

Bond Forfeiture

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Frank Holt asked the Arkansas Supreme Court Tuesday to void a $1,000 appeal bond posted by Marsellis Ellis of Benton who failed to surrender himself after the Supreme Court upheld a seven-year manslaughter sentence against him. Holt said Ellis, who was convicted in the 1960 slaying of Pedria Rabb, reportedly is in California.

Semi-invalid Is Fatally Hurt

SIoux CITY, Iowa (AP)—An elderly semi-invalid woman was fatally beaten Tuesday night with a hammer wielded, authorities said, by her husband, a double amputee who is confined to a wheel chair.

Mabel McLaughlin, 71, died at a hospital about an hour after the beating.

Her husband, Frank, 71, was being held under police guard at the hospital. No charge has been filed.

Mrs. McLaughlin, who could get around only with the aid of a cane or crutch, and her husband returned to their home in suburban Riverside about 10 days ago after living for several months in a home for the aged.

Authorities said that McLaughlin, a retired carpenter, suffers from diabetes. Both his legs have been amputated and he is confined to a wheel chair.

County Attorney Edward Sammore said McLaughlin told him the couple had been discussing financial problems.

The Red Cross "Swim and Stay Fit" project, launched a year ago to add stimulus to President Kennedy's physical fitness program, is going over with a big splash. Participants keep lined up by swimming a total of 50 miles over an indefinite period of time in multiples of 449 yards. Still patches are awarded to those completing the prescribed 50-mile swim.

This was the first family to finish the 50-mile swim simultaneously. They are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cesar and their son, Alex, of Long Beach, N.Y.

If You Live to Be 70 You Spend 200,000 Hours in Bed, Probably Want to Some More

By IAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—If you live to be 70, you will probably spend about 200,000 hours in bed and unaccounted more hours in the wishing you were there.

Here are a few habits of bed addicts. The immediate family slept here and sleeping customs through in the main bed, poor relations in a smaller bed that pulled out from the side, and servants in a room deck portion that pulled out at the foot.

President Kennedy sleeps on a 7-foot by 10-foot mattress and the first blue size bed in the White House was ordered for Mrs. Lincoln to accommodate life in a four-frame.

More sleep masks are sold in New York than in any other city in the country, but New Yorkers buy fewer, on, unless proportionately than do Vermonters.

One U.S. oil collector recently had a motor oil bed built so he could admire all his masterpieces without finding his neck.

Lawrence now are developing a way for them to make money, which are most popular in this country in California and Texas.

The average age for mattresses in American households is 11 years, compared to about six years for American motor cars.

Physicians say that for comfortable sleeping a bed should be at least six inches longer than its intended occupant.

The second bedtime story on radio was a success since a consecutive minor works to move their physical habit. But the dream-loving Americans wanted the triple purpose: to be lulled to sleep, to be entertained, and to be educated.

The world's longest bedtime story was told in a radio broadcast. It was a story about a man who was a doctor and a woman who was a nurse.

The 10th anniversary of the first moon landing was celebrated with a special broadcast. It was a story about a man who was a doctor and a woman who was a nurse.

Integrated Schools Open Peaceably

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Desegregated Southern schools started the fall term peacefully for the second year in a row and integration spread this year to parochial schools in New Orleans, La., and Atlanta, Ga.

Additional public schools were desegregated in Arkansas, Florida, Maryland, Tennessee and Virginia.

New Orleans began its second day of Roman Catholic school integration today with no reports of trouble.

Some white parents were withdrawing their children, apparently planning to enroll them in public schools. Church officials issued no official count of enrollment or withdrawals.

As it was Tuesday when the schools opened for orientation sessions, crowds of parents and some curious onlookers stood around many of the desegregated schools. Uniformed police again were on hand.

A white boycott of a desegregated Catholic elementary school at Burns, La., weakened slightly today. Sixteen white children entered Our Lady of Good Harbor School, three more than on Tuesday. Five Negro children who went to the school a week ago have not attended since the opening day.

A Negro boycott cut attendance in half at the Englewood, N.J., Lincoln Elementary School. The predominantly Negro school was picketed by a dozen white and Negro persons protesting imbalance in the city's educational system.

Chattanooga, Tenn., and Hamilton County admitted 50 Negroes without incident to classes with white children in the first three grades of eight schools.

Integration also came quietly today to Lynchburg and Portsmouth, Va., when 14 Negro pupils entered previously white schools in each city.

Efforts to end school segregation failed Tuesday in Baton Rouge, La.; Huntsville and Gadsden, Ala.; Albany, Ga.; and at the Carrollton Schools near Dallas, Tex.

Says Marshall Approved Estes Deals

WASHINGTON (AP)—An attorney for Billie Sol Estes swore today that the late Henry H. Marshall, as a Texas farm aid official, knew and approved all the details of Estes' cotton allotment dealings.

The testimony by John Dennison of Pecos, Tex., conflicted with prior testimony of others that Marshall had declared in Dennison's presence that any such deals would be illegal and should not be allowed.

The lawyer said, however, that Marshall had rejected a different form of contract used by others but had approved that used by Estes.

Dennison testified before the Senate Investigations subcommittee which is exploring whether political influence helped Estes to swing multimillion-dollar farm aid deals which the Agriculture Department has since ruled illegal.

Dennison also served notice that Estes intends to carry to the courts, if necessary, his defense of the deals. He said the issue of their legality would be settled ultimately by review boards and by the courts.

Marshall, a top aide to the Texas State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, was found shot to death June 1, 1961.

The Texas Rangers have said the evidence indicates he was the victim of a still unsolved murder, despite original certification that he had committed suicide.

Poison Spgs. Actually Not Poison

By WICK TEMPLE

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A ragged Union soldier dropped exhausted beside a clear spring and drank heartily that April day, 1864.

A few minutes later he was dead and the word hurried among his comrades:

"Poison spring!"

The fleeing soldiers dragged on and many were slaughtered by pursuing Rebels in one of the bloodiest Confederate victories of the Arkansas campaign of the Civil War.

Someday soon, modern campers will pitch their tents on the site of that battle in what may be one of the state's most beautiful parks, Poison Springs, near Camden.

The spring will be surrounded by a fence, only to keep it clean. It is not poison.

Bids were taken this week on improvements at the site, and Camden Civil War buffs have an extensive development program worked out.

Dr. James W. Hawley of Camden has ridden horseback over the 9,000-acre tract and marked off the original battle lines, fortifications and other points of interest in the battle.

Hawley built a home on Fort Bokout, a mountain in the vicinity of the park. Confederate troops held the lookout post to watch for Union troop movements and camps. In his home, Hawley displays hundreds of souvenirs from the battle, including guns and supplies that were crushed to the dust on April 18, 1864.

The Federals accused the Rebels poisoning the spring, but there is no evidence that they did so. The story is that the soldier who suffered from heat prostration after the four-hour running battle.

The Union lost 301 soldiers to the Confederacy. The battle took the back of the Union expeditionary force and the remainder of the federal troops fell back to Little Rock soon after. The scene of the battle is now improved except for one monument. The state will install picnic tables, rest rooms, improve the water supply and set up camp under a bill passed by the legislature. Rambley Construction Co. of Camden submitted apparent low bid of $4,765 for work.

A large sign will be erected on Highway 24 about 12 miles west of Camden, locating the battle. Hawley said local people will not a mural on the sign depicting the fighting.

The park should be ready for visitors in a year, the state Parks and Publicity Commission said. The Battle of Poison Springs is a curious one. The North used mostly Negro First Kansas Infantry and the South used about Choctaw Indians. The First Kansas was annihilated.

The Northern commander, Brig. Gen. Frederick Steele, was pushed southwest toward Texas to Union Gen. Nathan Banks, who was pushing northwest from New Orleans. They intended to take Texas, import German orders to raise cotton, and ruin the South financially.

A Southern garrison at Camden derided the command of Gen. Maxey moved south and whipped Banks at Mansfield, La. But that his Camden fortification unharmed and Steele moved in. Maxey returned from Mansfield and couldn't attack his own fort because it was too well set up. He cut off Steele's supplies and forced Steele to send 188 wagons and nearly 1,200 troops on a grueling expedition northwest in the area now known as Poison Springs.

There the 3,200 Rebels ambushed the Northerners, routed the Union forces and captured all 188 wagons. Steele then had to withdraw from Camden or starve, and his army was again beaten at Marks Mill near Sheridan before the stragglers, including Steele, returned to Little Rock.

Dr. Hawley, who has a practice in Camden, said almost the whole Kansas Negro regiment is buried somewhere in the Poison Springs area. "I intend to find them," he said, "then maybe Kansas will send a marker to commemorate them."

Gosnell Integrates Public Schools

GOSNELL, Ark. (AP)—Gosnell integrated its school across the street from Blytheville Air Force Base Tuesday rather than lose federal funds.

Twelve Negroes attended classes with 1,400 white students. Many of those who attend the school are children of air base personnel.

The federal government contributes money to help run the system and threatened to withdraw the aid if the school remained segregated.

The school district had been sending Negro students by bus to schools in Blytheville, four miles away.

No advance publicity had been given to the integration move and school officials would not comment on it.

Blytheville to Give Polio Shots

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Blytheville will begin three week Sabin oral polio vaccine program Oct. 2.

Residents will be asked to go to clinics located in schools and other buildings and swallow lumps of sugar containing one drop of the vaccine.

They will take the vaccine on three consecutive Sundays, the Mississippi County Medical Association said.

Grocers Give Boost to Housewives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's grocers are giving a boost to housewives planning back-to-school lunches by featuring a variety of economical sandwiches fillers this weekend.

Baking hens, turkeys, picnic hams, pork loin roasts and fresh hams are among the items regionally featured at supermarkets that lend themselves to sandwich makings. A national chain features fresh hams at 49 cents a pound in New York outlets.

Also attractively priced are bacon, sausage, eggs, orange juice concentrate and milk and cream.

Lamb is a widespread feature with several national chains offering a variety of lamb cuts at special prices. One chain is selling leg of lamb at 53 cents a pound in the New York area.

Beef attractions include pot roasts and round steak in the Midwest and ribs of beef in the Northeast.

Oysters are just coming into season and there are several other fish and seafood attractions.

Apples, especially Michigan crabapples, are moving into good supply. Cantaloupes, in near record supply, continue attractive and the pear crop looks unusually good.

Other fruit features include Thompson seedless grapes, peaches, plums, nectarines, grapefruit and lemons. Vegetable buys include green beans, cabbage, carrots, celery, tomatoes, potatoes, sweet potatoes, onions, lettuce and other greens, peppers, beets, eggplant, field peas, brussels sprouts, squash and cauliflower.

Killed by Train

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—John J. Geates, 51, of Atkins, was decapitated by a Texas and Pacific freight in Texarkana Tuesday. Police said Geates apparently fell asleep on the track.

Production of Red Meat Down

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Crop Reporting Service said Wednesday that red meat production in Arkansas during July amounted to 9,122,000 pounds, or one per cent less than produced in the month of June.

The total was, however, 16 per cent above the total red meat production in July 1961.

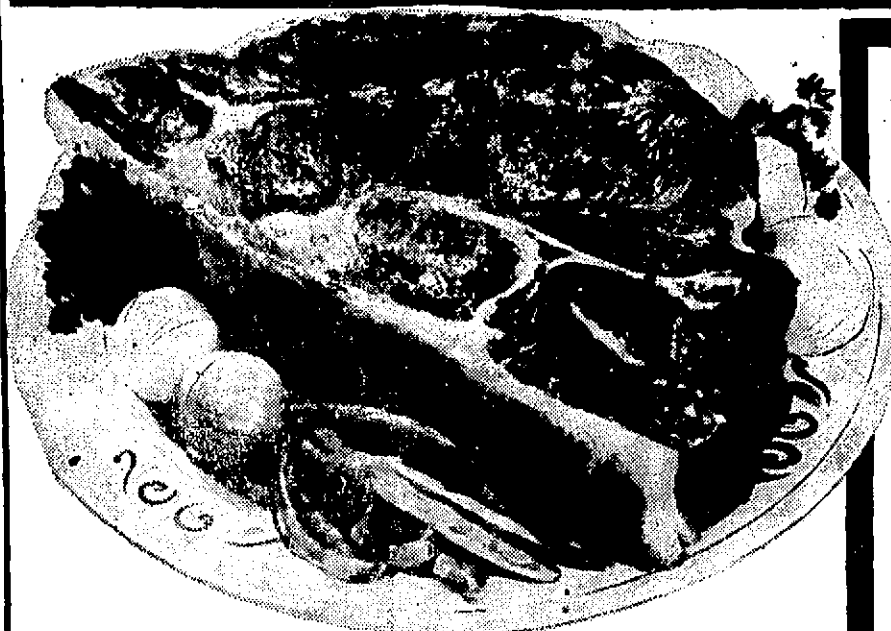

The breakdown shows 11,800 head of cattle were slaughtered, nearly 4 per cent more than in June and 15 per cent more than in July of last year; 24,200 head of hogs were butchered, 7 per cent below the previous month but 15 per cent above last July's total.

Committee to Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Democratic Central Committee meets in Little Rock today to certify party nominees for the November election ballot and chose officers for next Wednesday's state Democratic convention. Certification of nominees is a formality.

Don't Plan Aggression, Cuba Told

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's sudden warning to Cuba and Russia—the result of a Soviet tilt-for-tail switch in the cold war—brought down to telling them not to get aggressive notions.

It was the climax of events building up for weeks.

In a statement Tuesday night Kennedy didn't complain about the kind of military help the Soviets have given, and are giving, Fidel Castro. The kind the President listed as going to Cuba could be considered strictly defensive.

But he said plainly enough that if the buildup was of the kind that could be used for aggression—like Soviet bases in Cuba—or if Castro moved against his neighbors, "the gravest issues would arise."

Actually, by giving military help to Castro in America's backyard, the Soviets are doing to the United States what this country has been doing to the Communist world for years.

For example: the military help, and even alliances, this country has provided for countries around the Communist perimeter in Europe; the aid to Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa near the coast of Red China; military aid in Korea and South Viet Nam and, recently, troops in Thailand. The United States has approximately 2,000 military advisers in Communist-threatened South Viet Nam.

In recent days, as news accumulated about Soviet military help for Cuba and the arrival there of Communist bloc military technicians, a number of senators complained Kennedy wasn't tough enough.

One senator, Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., called for an invasion of Cuba. Another, Homer Capehart, R-Ind., said about as much. Still another, Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., criticized what he called Kennedy's "do-nothing" attitude.

Kennedy could have brushed these complaints aside. Other senators on other subjects have had complaints. But what brought the whole business to a head was what happened Sunday.

In Moscow there was a joint Soviet-Cuban announcement which promised Russian help to Castro in building steel mills and in farming. Then it said they discussed threats of aggression from "imperialist quarters."

It didn't mention the United States. But it added: because Cuba asked military help to protect itself, Russia would give it "armaments and technical specialists for training Cuban servicemen."

The announcement didn't list the kind of armaments but it carefully avoided saying the military help would include Soviet troops.

In a statement Tuesday night Kennedy ticked off the kind of equipment he said he knows Cuba got from Russia:

Defensive missiles, but not offensive ones, and equipment to use it, some Soviet-made torpedo boats with ship-to-ship guided missiles having a range of 15 miles, and perhaps a total of 3,500 Soviet technicians for setting up and teaching the Cubans to use the electronic equipment Castro got.

But he noted there was no sign of Soviet bases or Soviet combat troops in Cuba, or any other "significant capability" there in Cuban or Soviet hands.

If these things showed up, he said, the "gravest issues" would arise.

Here are some of the events in the background:

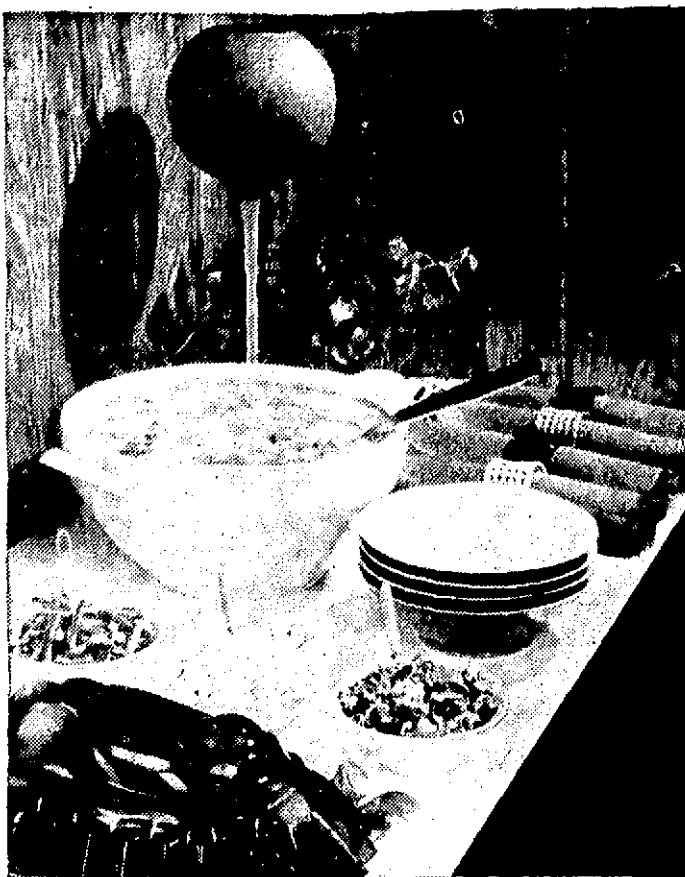

On Aug. 20, U.S. officials reported 15 Soviet vessels, including five passenger ships, arrived in Cuba but they doubted any Communist bloc troops were landed.

At his Aug. 22 news conference Kennedy said he knew supplies had been landed but he didn't know that any troops were.

Two days later a group of Cuban refugee students, in two small boats that stood offshore, fired on a Havana hotel. They admitted it. On Aug. 27 Capehart voiced his complaint.

At his news conference last Wednesday, Kennedy said he still had no knowledge that Communist troops landed in Cuba. As for economic help from the Communist

Curried Canned Turkey Vegetable Soup Sets A Party Buffet

Entertaining can be a joy and a delight—for both the hostess and the guest. One of the nicest party invitations is the one which reads, "You are invited . . . to meet . . ."

Buffet service is the easy answer to a problem of space. Food can be prepared ahead of time for the most part. Such is this party buffet starring Curried Turkey Vegetable Soup.

Canned condensed turkey vegetable is the latest newcomer to the wonderful world of soup. Right with vegetables, tender turkey, and shell macaroni, this gay soup adds even more variety to the soup centered menu.

And, not content to present just one new soup this fall, the company responsible for the canned condensed newcomer, also introduced eight new canned soup mixes. Developed over a three year period by company chefs, these soup mixes have the major ingredients freeze dried . . . the latest in processing procedure. To insure the locked-in flavor, the dried soup mixes are packaged (two per carton) in hermetically sealed aluminum cans. These virtually weightless cans solve myriad problems, particularly storage and transportation for the sports-minded. Included in the line is beef, noodle, chicken noodle, cream of mushroom, cream of potato, noodle, old-fashioned beef, onion, and vegetable.

Make Curried Vegetable Soup the center of your buffet table. Surround it with colorful garnishes: Green pepper strips, toasted coconut, slivered toasted almonds, thin apple slices, crumbled cooked bacon, or sliced green onion. A tart molded salad is a pleasing flavor companion.

Curried Turkey Vegetable Soup
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed turkey vegetable soup
1 soup can water
2 1/2 to 3 teaspoons curry powder

In saucepan, combine all ingredients. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Another colorful luncheon or supper dish is this Spinach Potato Bowl.

Spinach Potato Bowl
2 cups cold water
1 can (2 1/2 ounces) cream of potato soup mix
1 cup milk
2 cups cooked chopped spinach
Dash nutmeg

In saucepan, gradually blend water into soup mix until smooth. Bring to boil, stirring. Partially cover; simmer 10 minutes, stirring now and then. Add remaining ingredients; heat, stirring. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Ordeal at Comanche Wells By Benjamin F. Copps

THE STORY: It becomes evident to the sheriff's force that Bill Ivey, sentenced to hang for murder, was hired by some local man to kill in order to put fear into rustlers operating near Comanche Wells.

CHAPTER IV

When Youngblood left the jail and headed for home it was dusk.

His house sat on a half block of city land. There was room for a garden and a saddle horse and milk cow. He had never rid of the cow because Lila would chase all over the town looking for the critter when he wasn't there to do it himself.

She was waiting in the front doorway for him.

She was a black-haired girl, six years younger than Bart Youngblood, and he had never quite gotten over his surprise at having won her.

When he had hung up his gun-belt on a nail and started to wash up, she said, "You needn't be worrying about breaking the news to me. Mrs. Ainslee was over. She says they sentenced William Ivey to hang."

"That's right," he said, spewing as he scooped the water from the pan onto his face.

"What does it mean, Bart?" "It just means the sheriff will need me another month. But that job with Uncle Charlie will wait."

"One month?" she asked, as if it were important.

"Sure. Aug. 1."

She had turned away from him. "It doesn't really matter. Of course it doesn't. How could that matter?" She managed a weak laugh. "It's just that . . . it's my time; that's what Doc said: Aug. 1."

He thought it over a minute and then said, "I'm getting you out to the ranch, where it's quieter."

The sheriff had made some plans. A good many of the cattle-men and their hands were still in town, and all of them were drinking. They might try something brash tonight, before they got the word from the dude lawyer. They wouldn't be organized, but it was worth watching for. He sent Andy across the street with a rifle to block, Kennedy said Cuba was in such bad shape it needed help. Last Thursday two vessels, believed to be Cuban, fired on an American Navy training plane near Cuba. Senators Keating and Thurmond had their say Sunday, and on that same day the Russian-Cuban announcement came.

station himself on top of the hardware store, but cautioned him. "Don't shoot anybody if you can get around it."

Youngblood and Slim he sent upstairs to wait in the windows overlooking the street. "One of you can sleep if you want to, but make sure you know which one is supposed to be sleeping," he cautioned. "And stay away from Ivey's cell with a gun."

It was short of midnight when they came, seven horsemen, one of them leading a riderless horse, saddled and ready. Youngblood saw them a block away, and he noticed too that the dim light which had been streaming from the sheriff's office below him had been put out.

They stood their horses bunched behind their leader as if they had no plan. Then the leader, a hulking figure on a big paint, yelled, "Sheriff! Sheriff! Nobody's going to get hurt if you act reasonable. All we want is Ivey."

The sheriff's voice, not loud carried clear. "I'm not so sure. Somebody may get hurt. I got a double-barrel shotgun pointed at your chest, feller."

"Don't be a fool, Sheriff!" the man yelled, still loudly. "They's seven of us and no more than four of you."

"I'm not going to kill seven," the Sheriff said, "just you, Bledsoe."

Youngblood knew the sheriff must be outside, in the shadow of the building.

"This ain't Bledsoe. And we mean business, Sheriff. You've done your duty. Now let us have Ivey, or we'll wipe you out."

"If you don't ride out of here, I'm going to do my duty," the sheriff threatened. "If we kill you it's to stop a jailbreak, but if you kill somebody, it'll be murder in the first. And while you're smoking that over you might as well know we got you in a crossfire. Speak up, Andy."

The rifle cracked from the roof behind them, and the white hat of the man on the end jerked forward from his head as if pulled by a string. Youngblood was thinking that it would have been better if it were the leader's, but Andy could see the sheriff and did not want him in his line of fire. The riders were waving their revolvers, peering, hunting for targets.

Another rifle cracked. Unbelievably it was from the other end of the courthouse. The leader's tall-crowned white hat jerked and sailed, it seemed half a block, down the street. The horses

Jobs Probably Look Better This Month

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Jobs, or lack of them, one of the nation's stickiest problems, could look a bit better this month.

Part of the better look will be quite real. Auto production is due to rise sharply this month. Thus, one of the key industries will be doing its bit. Steel production is also due to rise a trifle. This basic industry will look healthier anyway, even if it doesn't swell its employment rolls much.

Part of the better look in unemployment will be seasonal and largely a matter of statistics. A lot of students, and professors, will go back to school. This will cut employment totals insofar as they held seasonal jobs. It will also cut unemployment totals, insofar as those who didn't find such jobs get out of the ranks of the unemployed and out of the labor force.

But any such improvement in the statistics—in the totals and in the percentages—is unlikely to satisfy those who are fighting the basic problem. There will still be too many unemployed, too large a percentage of the total labor force, and too many with seemingly slim chances of finding work.

The battle lines are sharply joined now.

The administration all along has plugged for a faster rate of economic growth. That means more expansion, more production, more consumption. Its ideas of achieving this have covered a wide range, from faster depreciation allowances for tax purposes to encourage corporations to modernize plants and build new ones to tax cuts next year for both business and consumers so that each will have more to spend.

Many businessmen and their organizations have seen greater profits as the solution. Prospects of good profits would induce investors to put capital into new ventures. Fatter profits on current business would furnish cash for expansion or modernization and would make lenders willing to finance such projects. The greater profits would come from: higher prices, lower production costs, lower taxes, or greater efficiency. None of the four is easy to achieve, all admit.

Organized labor, saying it is tired of waiting, is now plugging for a cut in the standard work week to 35 hours from 40. It contends this would create more jobs, if the present production pace is to be maintained. And with the new jobs would come increased purchasing power, and presumably a greater demand for goods and services, and thus a measure of economic growth.

Labor also joined with many business organizations in urging a tax cut this year. This is the administration decided against. It also opposed a 35 hour week, saying what the economy needs is more production, not less—more economical production, not more costly.

Even a faster rate of economic growth will still leave some of the unemployed out of the new prosperity. These are the untrained—and the trend now is all toward more skilled labor. In fact, there are shortages right now in some fields of highly skilled work.

And then there is the number of skilled workers whose particular skills have been passed by in the rush to new technological heights. Retraining programs have helped in some instances. More is going to be tried in this line.

But the seasonal ups and downs in the curve of employment and unemployment won't hide the basic problem—nor quiet the battle over which solution should be tried.

Burglar Likes to Explain

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—A burglar who likes to explain his way of doing things took $15 from Massanelli's Cleaners in Jonesboro Tuesday night.

The following note, printed in pencil on a laundry slip, was found on top of the unopened safe in the building:

"Luck's with you, pal. I lost my tools. Sorry about the mess, but times are tough."

Police found the rear door to the building open early today. Police said entry was gained through an attic fan opening on the roof. The burglar apparently went out the rear door.

The sheriff appeared and looked up toward the second story of the courthouse, at the end from which the second shot had come. He called, "Nice shooting, Judge."

"Thank you, gentlemen," came the voice of Judge Pendergrass.

Safeguards on Patrols in Future

By JOHN M. NIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is considering imposing new safeguards on military patrol flights near the Soviet Union in an attempt to reduce the risk of violating Soviet territory.

The latest in a long series of aerial border incidents flared into world headlines Tuesday when the Soviet Union charged that a U2 reconnaissance aircraft of the type that made sensational history in 1960 had trespassed Soviet territory in the Far East, north of Japan.

Kennedy administration leaders in a reply of unprecedented speed conceded that a U.S. plane—which State Department officials identified as a U2—might have flown unintentionally over Soviet-controlled territory last Thursday.

Officials said today they hoped this speedy concession of possible error would put a quick end to the latest U2 incident and kill any anti-American propaganda build-up Moscow might be planning. The note to Moscow released here by the State Department only a few hours after Moscow's protest went beyond conceding the possibility of a mistake in navigation due to "severe winds during this nighttime flight."

It made two other points:
1. The policy of barring U2 flights over Soviet territory which was first laid down by President Dwight D. Eisenhower after the 1960 incident and was later confirmed by President Kennedy is still in effect.
2. Precautionary measures intended to prevent accidental trespassing of Soviet air space are being reviewed.

Informed officials said that precautionary measures could include a requirement that patrol flights made in bad weather under difficult flying conditions should follow courses well away from Soviet territory to allow for potential errors in navigation. Strict requirements to keep patrol planes under radar surveillance so that the pilot could check his position accurately might also be laid down.

Johnson Not for Prayer Decision

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Associate Justice Jim Johnson of the Arkansas Supreme Court let it be known Tuesday that he did not agree with the court majority which declined to depart from custom and open the new court term with a prayer Monday.

Johnson presented his view in a letter filed with the court clerk. He said he wanted to get on the record since no formal order was taken on the court's vote on the prayer matter.

It was learned last week that one or two justices had proposed opening the new term with a prayer.

However, the court majority apparently felt that the court would be open to criticism if it departed from the no prayer custom in light of the U.S. Supreme Court's recent controversial decision on LEGISLATORS' RETREAT?—Rep. Robert Barry, R-N.Y., reportedly is trying to interest fellow legislators in joining him for relaxation on Fisher's Island, a retreat five miles out into the Atlantic off New London, Conn. Flying time from Washington, D.C., is about two hours. The congressman could buy a roomy, completely furnished house next to one owned by Barry for $135,000. Called Windshield, the house has been vacant for several years. It has 14 bedrooms and three big sleeping porches. Interior and exterior views of the house are shown. Barry believes the house would benefit the nation.

Commission Opens Bids for Highways

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Highway Commission opened bids today on eight highway and bridge construction projects expected to cost $1,783,425.

The contracts were to be awarded later today.

One project — surfacing of 1.3 miles of Highway 39 from Brinkley south—drew no bids and will be readvertised. Apparent low bids by counties:

Pulaski — McGeorge Contracting Co. of Pine Bluff, $389,845, on paving of a half mile of Interstate 40 in North Little Rock.

Little River—Reynolds and Williams of Little Rock, $213,246 for surfacing of 4.2 miles of Highway 108 east from the Oklahoma line.

Alderman Elected

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Alderman Robert Kirspele defeated L. D. Boyer Tuesday in a special runoff election for Kirspele's post on the North Little Rock City Council. Kirspele got 3,254 votes to Boyer's 2,202 in the election required because the men tied in the regular Aug. 14 runoff primary.

Bids Taken on Poison Spgs. Park

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — H. L. Rampley Construction Co. of Camden submitted the apparent low bid Tuesday for improvements at Poison Springs State Park 12 miles northwest of Camden.

The Parks and Publicity Commission said Rampley's bid was $4,765.30. There was one other bid. The state Purchasing Department opened bids and the Parks and Publicity Commission must review them and approve the low bid before the contract can be awarded.

Bryan Stearns, associate director of the commission, said the contract probably would be let soon.

Improvements include sanitary restrooms, picnic tables, fireplaces, camping areas, improvements on the water supply and fencing off the springs.

The park is at the site of the Civil War Battle of Poison Springs, in which a group of Confederate soldiers ambushed federal troops and scattered them.

Ben Bella Has Control in Algiers

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGIERS (AP)—Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's Political Bureau took control of Algiers for the second time today after beating down local guerrilla warlords in a brief civil war.

It was impossible to say, however, whether stability was in sight for the two-month-old nation plagued by internal strife and chaos since its birth.

The Political Bureau called off the regular army's invasion of the Algiers area, then moved back to the Algiers offices it vacated under guerrilla pressure 10 days ago.

The rebellious leaders of the guerrilla Wilaya (zone) No. 4 controlling the Algiers area agreed to a demilitarization of the capital and marched their troops out of the city.

Ben Bella personally announced the agreement Tuesday night from the balcony of the government building, former headquarters of the French colonial administration.

"We have won," Ben Bella said, "not because the soldiers of Wilaya 4 have left the city but because the people have imposed their will."

The agreement represented a compromise between the civilian

Carroll Drys File Petitions

BERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The Carroll County dry forces, a group of ministers in favor of prohibition, has filed a petition in the county clerk's office at Berryville asking that the issue be on the November general election ballot. The petition bore 1,336 signatures.

Signatures equal to 15 per cent of the number of persons who voted in the 1960 gubernatorial election are required to place a measure on the county general election ballot, and the dry forces have well over the needed 585 names.

politicians and the guerrilla commanders trying to preserve the authority they seized after the end of the war with France.

The Political Bureau was to function as the country's provisional government without Wilaya 4 interference but gave up its demand for immediate dissolution of the Wilaya command.

The regular army was not to enter Algiers for the time being. Order was to be maintained in the city by police and the pro-Ben Bella commandos of former terrorist chief Yacel Saadi.

Two Escape From East Germany

By JOHN FIEHN

BERLIN (AP)—Two young East Germans drove an eight-ton truck through two barbed wire fences early today, climbed a third fence and swam a border canal to safety in West Berlin.

East German border guards fired their automatic rifles several times but no one was hurt. Police said the successful refugees were men between 22 and 25. They came through the southern suburb of Seehof, in Communist territory, and got across the Teltow Canal.

They reached safety just behind McNair Barracks, one of the biggest American installations in Berlin.

West Berlin police reported that an East German border policeman also got across. He came in civilian clothes and his route was not disclosed.

Jeeps of U. S. troops manned crossing points through the Berlin wall in the American sector to make sure that the Soviets used other crossings for the guards they sent daily to the

Parker Quits, Joins Teachers

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Jim Parker, one of the state's leading high school backs in 1961, has decided to play football at Arkansas State Teachers College at Conway.

Soviet War Memorial in the British sector.

The Russians knuckled under Tuesday night to Allied demands that they use a British sector crossing to shorten the guards' route and lessen the danger of traffic disruption or demonstrations by West Berliners. But in the Western air corridors to the City Communist MIG fighters swooped down on Western airliners again, bringing new Allied protests.

Several hours before the checkpoint issue was settled, the United States, Britain and France protested to the Russians against MIG fighters which the West said accompanied three commercial airliners flying in the vital corridors from West Germany.
